

Katherine Butler

Senior Associate

kbutler@fenwickelliott.com

Katherine has experience of both domestic and international construction and engineering disputes and advises both contractor and developer clients. Katherine has acted on matters in the Technology and Construction Court, the Court of Appeal and various international arbitrations.

Katherine has strong capabilities in respect of case strategy, submissions, witness statements, cost budgeting, disclosure and technical analysis of expert reports. Katherine is also active in contributing to sector know how through published updates and articles in industry press.

Specialist expertise

Examples of Katherine's expertise include:

- acting for Main Contractor regarding a defects claim in adjudication, under NEC3 Option C, for the construction of a movable bridge in Dorset;
- acting for the Main Contractor on two separate but related international arbitrations under the Danish Institute of Arbitration rules in respect of UK-based biomass electricity plants;
- acting for professional team client on large scale adjudication concerning payment claims under an NEC4 Professional Service Contract;
- various instructions for project advisory work in respect of large-scale renewable energy and desalination plants in the Middle East;
- acting for the main contractor in injunctive proceedings in the TCC in respect of our client's call on a performance bond;
- acting for Main Contractor in high value adjudication concerning delay and defects, under NEC4 Option C, regarding a water treatment works;
- acting for the Employer on various adjudications concerning disputes for extensions of time and loss and expense on student housing developments;
- acting for FM Contractor under a PFI contract on a long-standing dispute (including an adjudication) concerning maintenance delays, primarily related to fire safety assets;
- professional negligence dispute between Ove Arup and Persimmon Homes (and others) that was dealt with via preliminary issues which were ultimately heard by the Court of Appeal;
- acting for the Employer on a long running dispute in adjudication (and enforcement) concerning detailed matters on delay and entitlement to liquidated damages in respect of a luxury retail development in Birmingham;

- acting for the Employer in a long-term dispute in the TCC between Heerema Hartlepool Ltd and Neptune E&P UK Ltd (formerly Engie E&P UK Ltd) concerning the fabrication and delivery of offshore gas platforms; and
- various final account, delay and defective work adjudications on behalf of contractor clients.

Katherine's professional memberships/positions include:

- council member for the Society of Construction Law;
- member of the Technology and Construction Solicitors' Association;
- member of the Adjudication Society;
- member of the National Association of Women in Construction

Katherine's academic achievements include:

- The Society of Construction Law Prize for the Best Overall Graduate, King's College London (2020);
- The Society of Construction Law Prize for the Best Dissertation, King's College London (2020); and
- The Bickerdike Allen Partners Prize for Performance in First Year Examinations, King's College London (2019).